General Meeting March 2010

“It’s Greek to Me”

Antikythera Mechansim from our March Video Presentation

The March meeting was called to order by President Doug Adams at 8:10pm. He greeted four guests: Larry Flesch, Hugh and Maggie Shelbourn, & David Solum

The following upcoming Marts were announced:

- Arizona Sunshine Regional March 19 and 20
- Our Goodtyme Mart May 22 (flyers are available)
- Chapter 81 April 3
- National will be held in June
- Reno will have a mart in August

Treasurer’s Report:

Bob Linkenhoker: We are $960 in the red but this is not accurate due to this is updated only through February 28th. The correct figure is about $500. We will make up the deficit from the minimart. We also need volunteers for the Mart.

Doug stated we need to make the mart a success. Also we have no Vice

A Timely New Book!

The American Clock and Watch Museum, located in Bristol Connecticut, has just published a new book, “Fifty Years of Time,” written by its curator Chris Bailey. Dave Weisbart has obtained a copy that he is donating to our chapter library. The book includes a well written history of early Bristol and how the clock business was started. It then goes on to provide a history of the museum’s founding and its expansion and the acquisition of its extensive collection. Some highlights of the history are provided on the museum’s website with the following summary.

On October 24, 1952 Edward Ingraham, president of E. Ingraham & Company, invited ten local businessmen to the “Town Club” (now the DuPont Funeral Home) in Bristol, Connecticut to discuss forming a clock museum. Since Bristol had become an industrial town due to its designation as the world’s center of clock manufacturing, it seemed appropriate that a museum be formed to preserve the heritage of the industry for future generations.

The Bristol Clock Museum opened its doors to the general public on April 10, 1954. At the time of the opening there were approximately 300 clocks on display and a small library containing 50 books. The collection grew quickly and by 1956 a new wing was added to the museum.

Future expansion plans include the incorporation of adjacent museum properties in order to offer additional display and research facilities as well as larger spaces for public programming. Visitors to the museum will find over 1,500 clocks and watches on display including old advertising clocks, punch clocks, grandfather clocks, blinking-eye clocks, railroad clocks and even Hickory Dickory Dock clocks.

President and we need another board member. He urged someone to volunteer.

Beginner's Corner - Doug Adams gave a presentation on drills. Some highlights were: Drills are used heavily in horology. The twist drill - tool steel is the most common. The tungsten carbide is also used but can take some skill to use. There are many different kinds of tips also. You can make your own spade drill if you have a lathe, and you also have to watch the color of the metal when you temper it.

Our main program consisted of two videos on the Antikythera Mechanism, which was found in the Mediterranean 1900 and was very unusual because it had gears. It was studied by Derick Desola Price in 1951 and was found to be similar to "A calendar computer" made by Archimedes. This was also similar to Babbage's mechanism. This mechanism has a metonic cycle, eclipse cycle and a 4 years Olympic games cycle. A model of it was shown in the second video.

A Digital AC Clock from Show & Tell

For Show and Tell Bob Selene gave us tips on a type of silicone he uses. Doug Adams brought in a Howard Series 3, a Howard Series 8, and Hamilton Montgomery, all for the letter H.

An early stopwatch from Doug Adams's collection.

Hamilton Montgomery with highly decorated movement from Show & Tell

Howard Series 3 from Doug's collection.

Howard Series 8, front & back from Show & Tell.

Raffle prizes were won by Derald Kliem, Gene Osten and Phyllis Adams.

We Need Your Help!

Don't forget Show & Tell...contributors get an extra raffle ticket and a chance to show of your stuff. Bring a Watch or Clock to make the meeting more interesting!
